However majority of the emulators that I found were targeting either desktop or web.

What if we could create a Game Boy emulator
that runs as a (1) desktop application or as a (2) browser application (or even a (3) terminal application) ?